E-mail advertising if you subscribe to the newsletter

If you subscribe to our newsletter, we will regularly send you our email newsletter based on your consent according to Art. 6 (1) 1 lit a GDPR, using the data required or disclosed by you separately for this purpose.

The newsletter is sent to you by our service provider who processes data on our behalf and to whom we disclose your email address. For the dispatch of our newsletter we use the services of MailChimp. time of retrieval, IP address, browser type and operating system). This information cannot be assigned to the respective newsletter recipient; they exclusively serve the statistical analysis of newsletter campaigns. Furthermore, you can unsubscribe from the newsletter directly on the website. Data processing is based on your consent (Article 6 (1) (a) GDPR). You can revoke this consent at any time by unsubscribing from the newsletter. The legality of the already completed data processing operations remains unaffected by the revocation. These interests are overriding in the process of balancing interests. The Trustbadge and the advertised Trustbadge services are offered by Trusted Shops GmbH, Subbelrather Str. 15C, 50823 Cologne, Germany.

With every use of the Trustbadge, the web server automatically saves a so-called server log file, which contains data such as your IP address, the date and time of the request, the volume of data transferred and the requesting provider (access data), and documents the request. 6. Cookies and web-analysis

To improve the user experience on our website and enable you to use its individual features, which facilitate the display of suitable products or the conducting of market research, some pages of this website use so-called cookies. This serves the protection of our legitimate interests in the optimised presentation of our offer according to Art. 6 (1) 1 lit. a GDPR. These interests are overriding in the process of balancing interests. A cookie is a small text file which is stored automatically on your end device. Some of the cookies we use are deleted after you close the browser session, i.e. when you close the browser (these are so-called session cookies). Other cookies are stored in your end-user device and enable us to recognise your browser when you visit us again (persistent cookies). To check the cookie storage period, you can use the Overview function in the cookie settings of your web browser. You can configure your browser for it to inform you whenever a page uses cookies and decide on a case-by-case basis whether to accept or reject the cookies on a given website or make a general rule to this end. Every browser has a different policy for managing cookie settings. The browser's policy is described in the Help menu of every browser and explains how you can change your cookie settings. Use of Google (Universal) Analytics for web analytics

For the purpose of website analytics, this website uses Google (Universal) Analytics, a web analytics service provided by Google LLC (www.google.com). This serves the protection of our legitimate interests in the optimised presentation of our offer according to Art. 6 (1) 1 lit. f GDPR. These interests are overriding in the process of balancing interests. Google (Universal) Analytics uses methods, such as cookies, that enable an analysis of your use of the website. The information collected automatically by cookies about your use of this website is, as a rule, transmitted to and stored on a Google server in the United States. At the same time, since IP anonymisation is enabled on this website, the IP address will be shortened before being transmitted within the area of member states of the European Union or other parties to the Agreement on the European Economic Area. Only in exceptional cases will the full IP address be sent to a Google server in the USA and shortened there. Generally, Google does not associate the anonymised IP address, transmitted from your browser through Google Analytics, with any other data held by Google.

Google LLC is headquartered in the USA and is certified to the EU-US-Privacy Shield. You can see the up-to-date certificate here. Based on this agreement between the USA and the European Commission, the latter has recognised entities certified to the Privacy Shield as those ensuring an adequate level of data protection.

You may prevent the data generated by cookies and related to your use of the website (incl. your IP address) from being recorded and processed by Google by downloading and installing the browser plugin available through the following link:

Alternatively, you may click this link , to prevent Google Analytics from recording your data on this website in the future. In this process, an opt-out cookie will be stored on your end-user device. If you clear your cookies, you will have to click the link again.

7. Advertisement for marketing purposes

Google AdWords remarketing

We use Google AdWords to advertise our website in Google search results and on third-party websites. For this purpose, when you visit our website, Google's so-called remarketing cookie is set on your browser, allowing the automatic display of interest-based advertising using a pseudonymous cookie ID and information about your website visits. This serves the protection of our legitimate interests in the optimal marketing of our website according to Art. 6 (1) 1 lit. f GDPR. These interests are overriding in the process of balancing interests.

Any data processing that goes beyond that scope takes place only if you have allowed Google to associate your web and app browsing history with your Google account and to use information from your Google account to personalise ads that you see across the web. If, in such a case, you visit our website while being signed in to Google, Google will use your data together with Google Analytics data to build and define audience lists for cross-device remarketing. For this purpose, Google will temporarily join your data with Google Analytics data to build audiences.

Google AdWords remarketing is offered by Google LLC (www.google.com). Google LLC is headquartered in the USA and is certified to the EU-US-Privacy Shield. You can see the up-to-date certificate here. Based on this agreement between the USA and the European Commission, the latter has recognised entities certified to the Privacy Shield as those ensuring an adequate level of data protection.

You can disable the remarketing cookie via this link. In addition, you can obtain information about the setting of cookies from the Digital Advertising Alliance and adjust the settings of your browser accordingly.

Google Conversion Tracking

As part of Google AdWords, we use the so-called conversion tracking. If you click on an ad served by Google, a cookie will be set for conversion tracking. Cookies are small text files that the Internet browser stores on the user's computer. These cookies lose their validity after 30 days and are not used for the personal identification of the users. If the user visits certain pages of this website and the cookie has not expired yet, Google and myRobotcenter can recognise that the user clicked on the ad and was redirected to this page. You can configure your browser so that you will be informed about the setting of cookies and allow cookies only in individual cases, exclude the acceptance of cookies for certain cases or in general, and enable the automatic deletion of cookies when closing the browser. Disabling cookies may limit the functionality of this website. Each Google AdWords customer receives a different cookie. The cookies cannot be tracked through the websites of advertisers. The information gathered using the conversion cookie is used to generate conversion statistics for AdWords advertisers who have opted for conversion tracking. Customers are told the total number of users who clicked on their ad and were redirected to a conversion tracking tag page. However, they do not receive information that personally identifies users.

For more information about Google AdWords and Google Conversion Tracking, see the Google Privacy Policy.

Right to object

Although we have legitimate interests in using and storing "conversion cookies", we offer the option to opt out of this. If you do not want to participate in tracking, you can opt out by in turn opting out of the Google Conversion Tracking cookie through your Internet browser under User Preferences. You will not be included in the conversion tracking statistics. The storage of "conversion cookies" is based on Art. 6 (1) lit. f GDPR. We have a legitimate interest in analysing user behaviour in order to optimise both our website and our advertising.

Facebook remarketing / retargeting

There are remarketing tags on our pages which link to and are integrated with the social network website, Facebook, 1601 South California Avenue, Palo Alto, CA 94304, USA. When you visit our pages, a direct connection is made between your browser and the Facebook server via the remarketing tags (Facebook Pixel). Through this process Facebook obtains information about the pages you have visited with your IP address. In this way Facebook can match your visit to our pages to your user account. We can use the information obtained in this way for the display of Facebook ads. Please note that we, as the host of these pages, have no knowledge of the content of the data transmitted or the usage thereof by Facebook. Further information can be found in Facebook's data protection statement. If you do not want your data to be collected via Custom Audience, you can deactivate Custom Audiences here.

To prevent Facebook from assigning collected data to your user account on Facebook, please log out from Facebook before visiting our website. You can also completely prevent the Facebook plugins from loading by using add-ons to your browser, e.g. with the script blocker 'NoScript'.

With the help of the remarketing tag (Facebook Pixel), Facebook is able to designate you, as a visitor of our online offer, as a target group for the display of advertisements (so-called "Facebook Ads"). Accordingly, we use the Facebook Pixel to display the Facebook Ads we have been sent only to those Facebook users who have shown an interest in our online offer or who have certain features (e.g. interests in certain topics or products visited by them) Web pages determined, which we transmit to Facebook (so-called "Custom Audiences"). With the help of the Facebook Pixel, we also want to make sure that our Facebook ads are in line with the potential interest of users and are not annoying. With the help of the Facebook Pixel, we can continue to understand the effectiveness of the Facebook ads for statistical and market research purposes, in which we see whether users were redirected to our website after clicking on a Facebook ad (so-called "conversion").

Facebook is certified under the Privacy Shield Agreement, which provides a guarantee to comply with European data protection law.

Right to object:

While we have legitimate interests in using the Facebook Pixel and storing "conversion cookies", we offer the option to opt out of this. You may object to the capture by the Facebook Pixel and use of your data to display Facebook Ads. To set which types of ads you see within Facebook, you can go to the page set up by Facebook and follow the instructions on the usage-based advertising settings. The settings are platform independent, which means they are adopted for all devices, such as desktop computers or mobile devices. You may also object to the use of cookies for metering and promotional purposes, via the opt-out page of the Network Advertising Initiative, and additionally via the US website aboutads.info or the European website youonlinechoices.com. If you do not want Facebook to collect data via Custom Audience, you can deactivate Custom Audiences here.

The use of Facebook Pixel as well as the storage of "conversion cookies" is based on Art. 6 (1) 1 lit. a GDPR. We have a legitimate interest in analysing user behaviour in order to optimise both our website and our advertising.
